

Explore Central Coast hinterland

Leave the crowds behind and head west to the Central Coast’s hidden hinterland, where beautiful rolling plains quickly ascend into hills and jungle clad mountains. Choose two wheels or four and follow the historic Ho Chi Minh Trail as it skirts along the Lao Border past pristine rivers and waterfalls, and ponder the tragedy of war being fought in a place so beautiful. Break up your journey with an overnight stay in a bungalow or homestay at A Luoi or Bho Hoong where the local ethnic people will be sure to feed you some of their tastiest delicacies and put on a traditional performance that will leave you with lasting memories and stories to tell for years to come.

Explore South Central Coast

Discover a glittering world of golden sand, crystal clear waters, and bright city lights. Relax on the pristine white sandy beaches of Lang Co, An Bang, or internationally acclaimed Mỹ Khê. Take a boat cruise to tropical Cham Island and dive into an underwater world filled with colourful coral and unusual sea creatures. Enjoy a leisurely game of golf or be thrilled at the Ba Na Hills theme park. After dark, experience the region's legendary Central Cuisine at one of the Coast's many alfresco restaurants. Finally, steal some time away from the coast and find amazing cultural delights including World Heritage Hoi An ancient town, the Champa ruins of My Son, and awe inspiring temples and pagodas.

DISCOVER CENTRAL COAST VIETNAM

Pack your bags and head to one of Vietnam's most dynamic and desirable destinations, Central Coast Vietnam. Connecting the provinces of Thừa Thiên - Huế, Da Nang and Quang Nam, the Central Coast has long been Vietnam's preeminent centre for history and culture. Today, visitors come not only for its magnificent World Heritage sites such as the Hue Imperial complex, Hoi An ancient town, and the remnant Champa temples of My Son, but to relax on some of Vietnam's most beautiful beaches such as Lang Co, An Bang, or internationally acclaimed Mỹ Khê, and to swim in its azure waters. Continually transforming, the Central Coast is at once thriving yet laidback, with the bright lights of the cosmopolitan river city of Da Nang counterbalancing perfectly with region's carefree seaside setting and quiet rural charms. Explore the Central Coast, and see for yourself why it has become one of Vietnam's favourite new getaways.

Two routes, two experiences

Here are two great ways to experience the very best that the Central Coast has to offer.

The Heritage Road

Follow the Heritage Road and take a step back in time. Explore royal citadels, tombs and temples from the Nguyen Dynasty and enjoy the romance of a royal court music performance. Meander through the narrow lanes of an ancient South East Asian trading port, or explore the archaeological ruins of the once mighty Champa kingdom.

The Nature Trail

Discover natural and cultural wonders along the Nature Trail loop. Stay in villages rich in culture and traditions in the hinterland's jungle clad mountains and plains. Encounter exotic birds and impressive tree-dwelling langurs hiking through the region's parks and reserves. Jump aboard a boat to visit artesian craft villages, and finish it all off with a swim in the cool waters of waterfall-fed lakes.
